

FITZSIMMONS REFINES

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons at the age of 88, visits the Phipps Stable for the last time, and goes through his normal routine. Bill Winfrey will be the new trainer replacing Sunny Jim. All photos at Belmont Race Track.

Bold Commander yawns as he listens to the conversation between Sunny Jim and Bill Winfrey.

Bill Winfrey and Sunny Jim going over a condition book in Sunny Jim's office at Belmont.

Sunny Jim talks to his female exercise boy, Mrs Randy Anderson who is holding Bold Commander.

Sunny Jim looks over the conditioning book outside the stable area this morning.

Sunny Jim in his kitchen in his office washes dishes around 10:30 AM in preparation for lunch.

Sunny Jim behind the wheel of his Pontiac and Bill Winfrey at his side watch horses go to the track around 7:00 AM.

Sunny Jim watches exercise boys rub down the only horse he owns, Go Ahead, around 8:00 AM.

Sunny Jim pauses from looking over the conditioning book to watch one of his charges.

Sunny Jim and Winfrey look over conditioning book.

6:30 AM in the barn, Sunny Jim watches horses being loosened up.

Sunny Jim as he pauses with the grand stand of Old Belmont in the background. The grand stand is going to be torn down.

Sunny Jim and his reflection in pool of water at Belmont, on a grey what day.

Sunny Jim watches horses being breezed from the training stand at Belmont.

PHOTOGRAPH BY

The New York Times

TIMES SQUARE

NEW YORK 36, N. Y. U. S.